

Travel - How to reach Udine

Udine is situated in the North Eastern part of Italy, about 90 km from Austria and 40 km from Slovenia.

By plane

There are three main airports serving the North East of Italy:

- Venezia (Marco Polo airport)
- Trieste (Ronchi dei Legionari airport)
- Treviso (Antonio Canova airport).

The best international connections are through Venice airport “Marco Polo” (IATA code VCE). From this airport you may easily reach Udine by train using the close railway station of Mestre. Mestre railway station is connected by bus to the Marco Polo airport (ask for the bus to Mestre, not to Venezia, piazzale Roma). There are two bus services:

1. ATVO Fly Bus (<http://www.atvo.it>). runs daily, every 20 minutes approximately. Journey time is 20 minutes. Tickets may be purchased inside the arrival hall at the ATVO box, € 5,00 luggage included.
2. ACTV (town transport service, bus number 15 – orange): runs daily, every 30 minutes. Journey time is 25-30 minutes approximately. Tickets: inside the arrivals hall, € 1,30 luggage not included. Both ACTV and ATVO lines also provide bus service to Venezia (piazzale Roma).

From Mestre railway station there are several trains to Udine, on the line Venezia-Vienna. Trains run almost every hour: . Some require supplements or seat reservation. The journey takes about 2 hours.

The nearest airport to Udine is at Ronchi dei Legionari also known as Trieste airport (IATA code TRS). Routing is mainly through Milano and Roma.

From this airport there is a bus service to/from Udine run by APT Gorizia (line number 51). Schedules and fares are available at APT Gorizia (<http://www.aptgorizia.it>) or calling the bus operator (+39–0481–593511). Arrival in Udine is at the central bus station, in front of the railway station. Journey time is approximately 45 minutes. Tickets can be purchased at the airport in the arrivals hall, with an automatic machine for self-ticketing and at Tourist Information Counter (Turismo FVG). Leaving Udine, tickets can be found at the bus station.
